Prof. John L. Dyer and wife, who have been teaching in Mills the past year were in town last week enroute for Mrs. Dyer's home in Hanover.
The many friends of Mr. J. T. Davis of Portsmouth, N. H., will be pleased to know that he is wearing the smile that won't come off. It is a boy, 12 months, born Tuesday, May 21st. The rigors and colds were good.

Mr. Levi Brown and Miss Hattie Merrill were united in marriage Monday, June 3rd. Both Mr. and Mrs. Brown are former students of Gould's Academy and are well known young people to Bethel. Mrs. Brown is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Merrill. They will be at home at Freepoint, Me., after June 10th. Their many Bethel friends extend congratulations and a host of good wishes for a long and happy wedded life.

About ninety were present at the district meeting of the Bethel's Monday evening, 23 coming from West Paris. A fine supper was served at six o'clock and at the close of a very instructive session there was a short entertainment consisting of a solo by Dr. I. H. Wright and recitation by Mrs. A. C. Frost, after which refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by the committee. The degree was conferred upon six candidates by Unwaned Bethel Degree Staff of West Paris, in a very pleasing manner.

Mr. John Swan, a former resident of Bethel, died at his home in South Framingham last week and was brought to Bethel Friday. Funeral services were held in the M. E. church Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock and were attended by a large number of friends and relatives. Mr. Swan always lived in Bethel until a few years ago, when he moved to South Framingham, Mass., where his son, Glen Swan and daughter, Mrs. Aggie Parlin live. He has one other daughter, Mrs. Lenna Back, wife of Mr. Orlando Back of this town. Mr. Swan was an honored member and deacon of the M. E. church when he lived here, and his many friends who extend their sympathy to the family in this time of sorrow. Mrs. H. P. Fickett of Falmouth Fore-and officiated at the funeral, assisted by Rev. F. B. Schomover. Miss Jane Gibson sang two solos.

THE BACCALAUREATE SERVICE.

Sunday afternoon at two o'clock the Baccalaureate service was held in the congregational church.

The church was well filled as in all ways the case at this service, for the interests of Gould's Academy and its students have a warm place in the hearts of the citizens of Bethel and vicinity.

The church decorations were very pretty. The organ and choir railing were draped with blue and white bunting, the class colors, and the front of the pulpit was banded with foliage and white flowers bearing the figures in white, "1907." There were also plants and bouquets of cut flowers tastefully arranged. The color scheme for the floral decorations was green and white.

Rev. F. B. Schomover of the Methodist church delivered the sermon. It was an able and helpful address, the text being taken from 2 Kings 13, a part of the 8th verse, "But what, is thy servant a dog, that he should do this great thing?"

A mixed quartette composed of Mrs. L. H. Wight, Miss Alice Russell, Mr. H. S. Pashard and Dr. I. H. Wight, furnished the music for the service. They sang several selections in a very enjoyable manner. The blending of the voices and fluency of shading was exceptionally pleasing.

ATTENTION, AUTOMOBILE OWNERS.

MAY TERM OF COURT CLOSURE

Thirteen Days Fall of Oxford County Business, Record of Last Session.

The May term of the first session of the Supreme Judicial Court ever held in Randolph Falls ended Wednesday after a session of thirteen full days during which time there have been trials and settlements of a large number of cases, the granting of over a dozen divorces and a general clearing up of the old docket which will greatly facilitate the business of the next session at Fall. The amount of work done fully warrants the extra session of the court here according to gentlemen who were prominent in the effort to hold a May term here annually and it has proven a great convenience both to lawyers and parties interested in the cases arising in this section of the county.

At first it looked as if there would be a three week term but a number of cases were settled, wiped off the docket, or continued and they divided down to less than a dozen for trial towards the close.

Judge Peabody has made a fine impression here, anxious to facilitate the court work which is congested in the state at present owing to the illness of two of the justices and to the unusually large number of cases which have come to the court. With Mrs.
Peabody his Honor has become acquainted with the Randolph Falls people in a social way and he expressed himself as very much pleased with the hospitality of the people and the court arrangements provided.

To Mr. Hayden, court stenographer, the visit has been one of delight from the fact that it brought him into the heart of a section where abundant innumerable scenic gems for his camera.
Mr. Hayden is one of the best amateur photographers in Maine and as he expressed it: "This is a paradise for each camera enthusiast as I. All around the town abound countless material for photography and I carry with me the finest lot of pictures secured without much effort gathered by me in many years in Maine."

It was intended to have held a temporary session during this session and chief of courts Whitman called a meeting for last Saturday night, which was adjourned till Monday evening when it was found that the court room was engaged so the meeting was declared off.

Monday's session was taken up with the trial of the case of Henry E. Hale vs. A. O. Tracy appellant, the action being to recover $100 as commission for the sale of real estate. The plaintiff is a real estate broker of Randolph Falls and the defendant a resident of Paris. In the trial of the case in the superior court the $100 commission was awarded the plaintiff, from which appeal was taken. The jury was out three hours and gave a decision for the plaintiff for $15. Stenographer Hayden for the defendant.

The plaintiff's claim was that the defendant promised him $100 as commission for securing the sale of the property at $2100. The defense was that the broker was to get his commission from any sum in excess of that amount that might be realized.

Monday's session was occupied with the trial of a trespass case which resulted in the return of a writ of replevin for the defendant being W. R. Clifford, a former Sturgis deputy, and the plaintiff Lester Clifford, employed in the shipping office of the Continental Bag Co. The Continental of the plaintiff alleged that on April 15th, 1906, the defendant entered the house of Garrett Clifford two bottles of wine used for medicinal purposes, which were the same day returned by deputy sheriff Cobb, and that in the search Clifford threatened by the exhibition of his knife Mrs.
Garrett, wife of the plaintiff, who protested that the wine was medicinal used by her and that she was in delicate health at the time and the threats and unwarranted seizure constituted hereases. Attorney McCarthy appeared for the plaintiff and Attorney Parker for the defense. The defense was that the officer was acting within his legal rights under a warrant for search and seizure.

Garrett testified that he had never sold intoxicants and that the search of his house had injured the health of his wife and the general reputation.

Verdict of $25.00.

After a deliberation of two hours Thursday, the jury brought in a verdict of $25.00 for the plaintiff in the case of Parker against the Oxford Paper company, and Parker and Parker appeared for the defense and a motion for a new trial. It was the leading case of the term and attracted much attention on account of the peculiar circumstances which attended the death of James H. Parker, aged 24, who had been employed by the Oxford Paper company several years and who on Nov.
10th, 1906, was struck on the head by a moving mill, a device used to move the ends of a spiral belt around which Parker was working. The plaintiff's claim was that the company was negligent in using such dangerous apparatus and the evidence showed that they were careless.

The case was brought to trial on father of the deceased, in behalf of Lara, the twenty-one year old wife of his son, and of her child born three months after the father's death. Mc-Carthy and Newell were counsel for the plaintiff. The taking of testimony in behalf of the plaintiff was interrupted frequently by exceptions noted by the prosecution on the counts rulings on objections made by the defense confusing it to the identical engines on which a certain worked, excluding all reference to similar ones in the same mill.

The jury visited the mill and were pointed out the surroundings. Witnesses for the plaintiff were J. S.
Harris, Stephen Arnold, George Horton, David Andrews, Harry Wing, Fred Andrews, R. E. Parsons and A. E.
Dennis, and for the defense W. L.
Wescott, W. D. Grigor, W. P. Ordway and B. G. Tucker. The contention was the knowledge Perkins possessed about the danger from the Jackson hooks and one of the witnesses said that their danger was known and that the belts would be safer were safeguards thrown around them.

The Jackson hooks as belt fasteners had been in use in the mill but were removed all but those on belts where Perkins worked. The defense insisted that there was a safe way provided Perkins to go about the machinery without going beneath the belt. It is said that when the jury was inspecting the room where Perkins met his death three of them, in leaving, passed beneath the belt where Perkins met his death, as it was the handiest way, evidently. The arguments on both sides were able and the charge of Judge Peabody a clear and masterful elucidation of the relative responsibilities of employer and employee from a legal standpoint.

The following divorces were granted: Verena Smith from Clinton L. Smith both of Canton, for gross habits of intemperance and cruel and abusive treatment.

Little A. Cummings of Canton, from Carver Cummings of Bethel, consumed habits of intemperance and cruel treatment.

Annie M. Wilson of Bethel, from Grant, from Warren Wilson of Lyon, Maine, after desertion. The custody of minor child given to mother to await further order of court.

The most tedious trial of the term which dragged its slow length through almost three days finished Saturday with a verdict for the defendant. The case was a suit for damages brought by Laura La Pierre on account of damage of water onto her premises situated on the Parker bridge road, in 1905, alleged to have been caused by the substitution of a pipe for a culvert which was built in 1890, the claim being that the pipe did not properly drain a few acres above the plaintiff's house. Hon. John P. Swasey was counsel for La Pierre and Judge A. D.
Stearns represented the town of Methuen.

As it was necessary to use an interpreter for the testimony of La Pierre and some of his witnesses progress was slow, and many amusing answers were given from which at times the jury were in doubt whether the swift river had its source in the pond near the La Pierre house or that the gravitation force had reversed and water was running up hill in that vicinity. One fact, however, remained clear from La Pierre's testimony and that of his neighbors. In spring, fall, and every rainy season, La Pierre could not complain about the overflowing of water for fire protection either in his cellar or in his final yard. In fact, he was surrounded by water and this was the gravamen of his complaint. He did not fancy going after a hat or coat with a boat in his cellar, nor did he relish Venetian excursions in his front yard.

The instability of his real estate was another thing that made life unpleasant on the Parker bridge road. It became tiresome carrying his farm load back over the hill where the spring frankly waited it, and from a social standpoint, neighbors were not pleased with the necessity of wearing rubber boots when making calls during the rainy season.

The plaintiff's counsel questioned that there was a natural water course leading from the low ground where the water formed a large full grown pond, and that the town of Methuen had erred in providing a proper channel for it.

The defense claimed that it was not a natural water course but that surface water caused the trouble whose drainage could not be properly regulated or controlled by the town's engineering plans. There was an elaborate citation of legal authorities by Judge Stearns on surface water. The jury was out two hours struggling with the water problem, finally concluding that the plaintiff was not damaged as claimed.

This was quickly followed by a case in which the ubiquitous, suave and hypocritical book agent occupied the stage.
He had sold a Mexico man a thirty-six dollar set of books on The Science of Railways. The victim had signed a contract for same, and when the books came the man claimed he couldn't find anything scientific in them and they were besides not in accordance with the sample copy shown. The victim was Weston U. Toolbaker and the plaintiff The World Ry. Pub. Co. Mr.
Toolbaker is a locomotive engineer and said that a book agent called upon him and showing him a volume said to represent the latest work on railroading he was induced to sign an order for a set costing thirty-six dollars consisting of twelve volumes, to be paid for in installments. The first occasion he had to consult the work was on automatic air brakes. The work was so ancient that there was only the slightest reference to air brakes. It was equally ancient on modern railway topics, but elaborated on the "pony express" which carried the mails over a century ago. Besides the books were disimilar in material value to the sample. He notified the local representative that he didn't want the books and later wrote the publishing company.

Other expert engineers and railroad men testified to the worthlessness of the work as a reference and said that they had been bitten also.

Mr. Swasey scored heavily on the persuasive book agent, lightning rod agents and agents in general, who induced people to sign a paper in such schemes. Attorney Parker argued on the contract as it stood and the failure of the defendant to offer to rescind the contract within a reasonable time.
There was surprise when the jury, who evidently thoroughly enjoyed the rhetorical cataloging of the genus book agent, found in his favor.

The court room was photographed Saturday while court was in session by Fred H. Kendall, a flash light being used. In the explosion of the light Mr.
Kendall suffered severe burns on his right hand, which necessitated a surgeon's attention.

Court sat till six o'clock Saturday afternoon and resumed at 9:30 Monday morning, Judge Peabody being unable to expellie matters and adjourn the middle of this week.

Fled from Gas.

"I had a friend," said the bearded man, "who got out of paying a bill he owed in an original way. When the collector arrived he sent word to him that he would see him in a few minutes. Then he went into the parlor, shut the doors carefully, turned on every heated burner in the chandel-lier, came quickly out, and had his man show the bill collector in the paror while he hurried upstairs. He you think that collector waited a few minutes for him to come down? Not on your photograph. He fled from that gas filled room in about two seconds by the clock. If he had stayed three he'd have been suffocated."

Some Painting Needed
What kind of paint will you use? Can you be sure of getting it?
So few paints are reliable—so many are not. It's costly to have paint "flake off," fade or peel soon after the bill is paid. Save money and uncertainty by using PORTLAND PAINTS. They have a reputation to uphold, and the makers a name to protect.
PORTLAND PAINTS wear equally well on interior work or exposed surfaces. They are durable. Sun, rain and wind cannot injure, wash or fade them. And they are economical to apply.
Work easy under the brush and spread evenly. Your dealer will show you our sample sheet, containing 48 durable colors for every class of work.
If your dealer cannot supply you, write to us.

NOW FOR MAINE BUILDING AT JAMESTOWN.

The unusual delay in completing the Jamestown Exposition will enable Maine to be represented in the same way as all other New England States are to be—with a State Building, if we but act quickly. The state commission wants $10,000 with which to reproduce the birthplace of the poet Longfellow, and suggests a popular subscription.

The press of the state will receive and acknowledge one dollar subscriptions to this fund for a State of Maine Building. You are urged to at once send in one or more subscriptions to this paper. For each one dollar received acknowledgment will be made in these columns, and a beautiful portrait mailed to each out of town subscriber, or delivered at our office to those who call for them. This portrait of Longfellow on the finest quality of plate paper 10-26.

Cut out the following coupon and mail with one dollar to us at once.

I enclose one dollar as a subscription to the Dollar Fund for a State of Maine Building at the Jamestown Exposition. Mail Longfellow photograph to me.

P. O. Address

Very truly yours,

NEW R. R. STATION FOR RUMFORD FALLS

Will Probably Be Built on Maine Line Opposite Oxford Mills.

Under the management of the Maine Central railroad there are likely to be great changes in the railroad situation both in Rumford Falls and throughout this section when the company gets things straightened around especially in the light of the proposed merger of the New York, New Haven and Hartford and the Boston & Maine. The Maine idea of railroading is quite advanced and even Boston is fearful that she will be only a way station if the merger is completed.

In all probability there will be changes here, merger or no merger, in the matter of a new station situated on the main line opposite the Oxford Mills, as contemplated by the Portland & Rumford Falls road some years ago. The seven tenths of a mile from that point to the present station will probably be used as a freight spur and the present station will become a freight house.

That such a change is possible was not denied by a prominent railroad man recently. He said that in all probability such a change would come in the near future. There would be a saving of time and of inconvenience by a station on the main line obviating the necessity of switching the passenger cars to the present station. Should the station be built it will be a fine one, probably of granite or brick, and this would revive the project of the extension of Congress street in that direction and the opening up of an extended business section.

That the Maine Central is to pay special attention to the Bangley division and with better train service is evidenced by the placing on the Lewiston Rumford Falls line recently of engine 149, one of the best and most modern passenger engines of the system. The Bangley Lake traffic is opening with a rush, two Pullmans heavily loaded going through Saturday night.

Extensive changes are contemplated at Livermore Falls also, and a few days ago Sept. Loring of the Bangley division and Sept. Sashen of the Portland division met there in conference, the purpose of which was the concentration of the work of the four stations now controlled by the Maine Central at Livermore and Chisholm. The Rumford Falls and Maine Central had each two stations at these places situated opposite each other, and the conference concerned the handling of the traffic by only two of the stations which will necessitate a shifting of the cars in the four stations now there.

For some years there has been talk of a union station for Livermore Falls and while this conference was not for that purpose it is said that the management has such an important step in contemplation in the near future.

Need of the Average Man.

"Caesar's wife," remarked the dispenser of shopworn quotations, "was above suspicion."

"But the average man is not a Caesar," rejoined the casual observer, "and what he needs is a wife who is above being suspicious." — Chicago Daily News.

Crowley: When we were introduced the other day and I began to tell him my troubles, he didn't butt in and try to tell me his. — Chicago Daily News.

The Boss.

Mrs. Fattie: I see lava is said to retain its heat longer than any other known substance. It would be great if we could induce the landlord to get some for the radiators.

Mr. Fattie: Wouldn't do any good. The janitor wouldn't use it if he had it. — Yonkers Statesman.

Pat's Turn.

The Major (thinking to have some fun): Good morning, Pat.

"Good morning, yer honor."

"That's a fine horse you're driving."

"It is, yer honor."

"Draws well, doesn't it?"

"It does, yer honor. It draws the attention of every fool that passes."

His Ruler.

Eva: Yes, young Scrobbles was quite a social lion when he was single, but he has calmed down a great deal since his marriage.

Jack: I'm! I suppose his wife must be a lion tamer. — Chicago Daily News.

Confident.

"Do you think your husband will quit playing the racket?"

"I'm sure of it," answered young Mrs. Torkins. "The money can't last forever." — Washington Star.

THE RICKSHAW AND BANDY.

Primitive Modes of Travel in Hill Country of India.

In the mountain districts of India the principal vehicles of passenger conveyance are the "rickshaw" and the "bandy," with which Rudyard Kipling has made us familiar. United States Consul Gen. Michael, of Calcutta, writes thus about these vehicles: "The rickshaw is pushed and pulled through the streets and on the roads leading out into the country by four coolies, and the 'bandy' is carried on the shoulders of four and sometimes six coolies. Saddle ponies are also used to some extent but most of the inhabitants and quite all visitors used the 'rickshaw' and 'bandy.' The latter is constructed on the plan of a sleigh box, but longer. A pole is attached fore and aft, which is long enough to give a springy motion when the coolies are walking and trotting. A cross-piece rests on the shoulders of the coolies and is shifted now and then from one shoulder to the other for rest. By the command of the coolie in charge this shift is made simultaneously. As a rule, both the 'rickshaws' and the 'bandies' are heavier than they need to be, and they are generally lacking in finish. Yet these vehicles cost as much as light and strong ones well finished should cost. The writer would like to place alongside of the 'rickshaws' and 'bandies' in use in India some samples manufactured in the United States after designs made by an American designer. The samples would attract orders."

HIS DUTY AS HE SAW IT.

Had Been Told to Carry Out the Provisions, and He Wanted Them.

The widow of a village grocer was industriously placing the large, rosy-checked apples on top of the miniature shriveled ones in the barrel when Farmer Giles entered the establishment, according to the Rochester Herald. "I want that tub of butter," he said, "and those hams, and that lot of sugar, and—" The shopkeeper rubbed his hands together with delight. "Yes, sir," he beamed, "dear to serve you. I'm sure. And what else may I supply you with?" "Well," went on Mr. Giles, "there's all them bottles of tomato sauce, and them boxes of biscuits an'—an' all that other stuff," he concluded, vaguely, sweeping his hand around the shelves. "Good gracious!" exclaimed the widow, now rather alarmed, "whatever do you want with all them goods?" "I dunno, I'm sure," was the farmer's puzzled reply, but I'm the executor of your late husband's will, an' the lawyer's just told me it's my duty to carry out the provisions. So come on. I've got three carts waitin' outside!"

The Infant Terrible.

A mother had just sought to punish her youthful son—and the son, to escape, had crawled under a bed—when a woman friend called at the apartment. "What a lovely place you have here!" the caller remarked. "So pretty—and so bright and clean. You must give more personal attention to things than I do." At this moment the small boy crawled out, scolding safety. "Say, mamma, was his greeting, "I don't get under any more beds in this house. Look at me. I guess when you sweep you never sweep under there. The dirt's an inch thick." The caller looked off into space and the mother, exclaiming, "Oh, let me show you my new hat, my dear!"

In Darkest Asia.

Mr. E. L. Harris, United States consul at Smyrna, makes an interesting report on conditions in Asia Minor, and in regard to electricity, says: "The city of Smyrna, with nearly 400,000 population, has no electric railway, electric light or telephone. There are cities all over Asia Minor varying in size from 20,000 to 50,000 inhabitants where there are opportunities of getting concessions for electric light and traction. It is strange for American electrical concerns to turn their backs on this field, with the excuse that nothing under a $1,000,000 concession would attract them."

Not a Reading Community.

The town of Charlevoix, Pa., has a Carnegie library in which there are several thousand volumes and the town is roundly taxed to support the institution. Last year, according to a report by the librarian just made public, there was one solitary patron of the library. The librarian expressed the opinion that the people of the town were so much interested in roller skating, baseball games, bridge whist and poker that they had no time for books.

Company Breeds Appetite.

"I think the reason you can eat so little and live," said the woman who came to the woman who doesn't, "is because you are by yourself. So much. Now, I am different. I work in a room with a lot of people. They absorb my vitality to such an extent that I am hungry all the time. Regularly I eat breakfast, lunch and dinner and sometimes when I go to the theater I have a supper afterward. Yes, I suppose it is a good deal cheaper to be by yourself."

Twice Ever Thus.

"I thought you called up information for the number," said he. "Why did you quit and ring off?"

"Information had either dropped dead suddenly or gone off to dinner with a waiter," she replied. "I waited and waited, and all I could hear was the sound of the telephone bell."

STATE AS LIQUOR SELLER.

An Experiment in Qwalia, West Australia. Results Successfully.

The West Australian state government's experiment in liquor business control at the mining center of Gwalia has managed to live through criticism, and now appears to be a firmly established institution.

Within the last few days the new chairman of committees of the senate, Senator Pearce, has come forward with first hand testimony. He had stayed a week end at the slate hotel at Gwalia, and has now told a public meeting in this city how he found prevailing conditions, says a Melbourne letter to the London Chronicle.

Senator Pearce found that the managers of the hotel were paid a good salary and had no interest in adulterated drink or trading during prohibited hours. The hotel was strictly for public convenience, and there was no more incentive to make men drink beer than there was for a station master at a railway station to sell tickets. The result was that there was no sign of drunkenness about the town. When a man was disposed to drink more than he could afford or was good for him there was machinery for exercising control over him. All that had to be done was for the man's wife or relative to go to the barman of the hotel, and then the barman received instructions that he was to be served with only two long beers—a party—one when going on to his mining and had one coming on. The minister said this being placed on the bar was not the proper way, outside the complainant, the manager, or the bartender need be informed. To who was on the list—except, said Senator Pearce with a sly smile, when the prohibited man himself lectured his fellows on their disgusting intemperance in calling for more than two drinks a day. On Sunday not a drink was sold or asked for.

The Grandia State hotel, after paying all expenses and supplying a splendid table and excellent bedroom accommodation, now cleared a profit of $15,000 per annum out of pure liquors. The manager regarded himself as a guardian of the people, who would not give them poison to drink and would allow them to abuse the privilege Earthquake Philosophy.

Poverty has its compensations in some matters. Thus the Mexican Indians who live in one-story adobe houses suffer little from earthquakes as compared with their richer neighbors who live in more pretentious houses of stone. The earthquake shock reduces the sundried adobe to harmless powder, but it piles stone houses upon the heads of those who live in them. "Poor and content," says the poet, "is rich and rich enough." It is probable, however, that the Indians are willing to exchange houses with the caballeros even at the risk of earthquake. It is the disposition of mankind to set small value on those things we have and to place a value on things on which we have not.

A Four-Decker Sea Pie.
A huge sea pie was served to a party of 20 guests at a feast at Clorion, England, at which the member for Farmington was present.
It was made by an old trawl skipper and weighed a hundredweight and a half. It was a four-decker and was boiled in a vast cauldron for several hours. The keel was laid with beef bones and there was a triple bulk head of short crust, the brankers being filled with beefsteak and ox kidneys.
There were holds also stored with

To Mine Russian Copper.
According to advice from St. Petersburg to the London Times, a syndicate has been formed there for the exploitation of the rich copper mines in Russian Turkestan. The syndicate has acquired rights over 15,000 acres of territory. The district is said to contain the finest copper producing areas in the whole of the Russian empire. The company will shortly be organized with an initial share capital of 250,000 rubles (1250,000).

celebration next year of the three-hundredth anniversary of the founding of Quebec, provided these most prominent in the commemoration are able to have their way.
